Important Notes to Students:

1. This course is only available to FBE students, and they can only take this course once.
2. It is the sole responsibility of the student to secure the employment contract from a reputable company as deemed by the Faculty of Business and Economics.
3. The nature of the consulting service must be primarily related to the fields of Economic or Finance.
4. Students in this course are expected to work at least 120 hours in total. Students are not allowed to work more than 10 hours per week on a part-time basis during regular semesters, except during the summer semester when they are not taking any courses.
5. The maximum time limit of this course is three consecutive semesters, including the summer semester. All work must be completed and course grade be given within this period.
6. A completed application form together with a copy of transcript/grades of all courses should be submitted to the Faculty Academic Area Administration Office (Room 1305, K.K. Leung Building) by the following deadlines:
 - (a) within the first 2 weeks of the employment. Late application (i.e. a completed application is submitted to the Office after the employment has commenced for more than 2 weeks) will NOT be approved;
AND
 - (b) by the end of the add/drop period of the enrolled semester.
If a completed application is submitted to the Office within the first 2 weeks of employment, but after the end of the add/drop period, such application will be treated as a special case for the Faculty's consideration.
7. If the employment involves a team of students working as a group, the maximum number of students in the group is four. It is not compulsory for all the group members to take FINA3360. In this case, students should enroll in FINA3360 on an individual basis if they wish to do so.
8. It is the sole responsibility of the student to identify a faculty member from the Faculty of Business and Economics who is willing to serve as his/her supervising professor.
9. The research paper to be submitted to the supervising professor is expected to be an academic paper on an economic and finance topic (e.g. pricing anomaly of derivatives) that is related to the nature of your employment. You are expected to conduct literature review of the topic and show the connection between the proposed topic and the nature of your employment. The research paper must be at least 7,000 words excluding references and meet the academic standard of a research paper in an advanced level economic/finance course offered by the Faculty of Business and Economics.
10. The research paper must be submitted together with a complete Turnitin report. Instructions of generating the Turnitin Report are as follows:
 - (a) Visit the Library's website at <http://lib.hku.hk/turnitin/students.html> for information of the account set-up and user manual.

(b) Enter the Turnitin webpage <http://www.turnitin.com>.

(c) Create your student account with the following information:

- Class ID: 29752119 (effective period: September 1, 2021 – August 30, 2022)
- Class Name: UG Papers 2021-2022
- Enrollment Password: ug20212022

(d) Upload the final version of your paper to the Turnitin system.

(e) Generate and print out the entire Turnitin Report, then submit it together with your research paper to the Faculty Academic Area Administration Office (Room 1305, K.K. Leung Building).

11. You have the responsibility to remind your supervisor/mentor of the participating company to complete and submit the “Student Assessment Form by Employer” to the Faculty Academic Area Administration Office (Room 1305, K.K. Leung Building), The University of Hong Kong, Pokfulam, Hong Kong. Alternatively, your supervisor/mentor may email the PDF file of the form by email at enquiry@fbe.hku.hk, or by fax at (852) 2858 5614. The deadline for submission of the form will be the last day of the revision period of the enrolled semester.

Enrollment Semester	Last Day of Revision Period
1	December 7, 2021 23:59
2	May 7, 2022 23:59
Summer	August 12, 2022 23:59

12. Your research paper to supervising professor and a Turnitin report should be submitted to the Faculty Academic Area Administration Office (Room 1305, K.K. Leung Building) by the last day of the revision period of the enrolled semester.

Enrollment Semester	Last Day of Revision Period
1	December 7, 2021 23:59
2	May 7, 2022 23:59
Summer	August 12, 2022 23:59

13. Students who have to miss classes/courses during the 1st or 2nd semester due to their assigned tasks in FINA3360 have to ask for permission from instructors of those missing classes/courses. As the assessment of the classes/courses concerned may cover students’ discussion or attendance, students have to take the initiative to observe the specific requirements in those classes/courses.

14. Students who work full time in FINA3360 during regular semester(s) must apply and obtain approval for leave of absence.

Important Notes to Supervising Professor:

1. The research paper from the student is expected to be an academic paper on an economic and finance topic (e.g. pricing anomaly of derivatives) that is related to the nature of his/her employment. The research paper must be at least 7,000 words and meet the academic standard of a research paper in an advanced level economic/finance course offered by the Faculty of Business and Economics.

2. Please check whether the proposal from the student is related to his/her employment, in the sense that the practical experience from the employment is needed for the student to complete his/her research paper.
3. Please arrange periodic meetings with the student to ensure he/she is making satisfactory progress towards fulfilling the objectives laid down in his/her proposal. You are expected to stipulate additional continuous assessments such as interim reports to gauge the student's performance.

Important Notes to Industry Supervisor/Mentor:

1. Please confirm that the employment contract offered to the student is consistent with points (3), (4), and (5) under "Important Notes to Students".
2. This course requires students to submit a research paper to the Faculty of Business and Economics based on the practical experience gained from their employment. Please note that the student needs to utilize some information from the job to complete his/her research paper. If you are concerned about possible leakage of sensitive company information in the process, please make separate arrangement with the student. The Faculty of Business and Economics is not responsible for misconduct of the student in leaking sensitive company information to any third party.

Approval Procedures

Enrollment in this course needs to be approved by the BEcon/BEcon&Fin Programme Director, and the following documents should be submitted:

1. a completed application form for FINA3360 together with a copy of your transcript/grades of all courses;
2. an employment contract or a letter issued by the human resource department of the participating company that describes the nature and scope of the consulting project or internship, and the length of employment period; and
3. a proposal of at least 1,000 words that outlines the economic or finance issues that the student would like to address through his/her work experience from the consulting service.

Academic Conduct

The University Regulations on academic dishonesty will be strictly enforced! Please check the University Statement on plagiarism on the web: <http://www.hku.hk/plagiarism/>. Academic dishonesty is behavior in which a deliberately fraudulent misrepresentation is employed in an attempt to gain undeserved intellectual credit, either for oneself or for another. It includes, but is not necessarily limited to, the following types of cases:

1. Plagiarism - The representation of someone else's ideas as if they are one's own. Where the arguments, data, designs, etc., of someone else are being used in a paper, report, oral presentation, or similar academic project, this fact must be made explicitly clear by citing the appropriate references. The references must fully indicate the extent to which any parts of the project are not one's own work. Paraphrasing of someone else's ideas is still using someone else's ideas, and must be acknowledged.

2. Unauthorized Collaboration on Out-of-Class Projects - The representation of work as solely one's own when in fact it is the result of a joint effort. Where a candidate for a degree or other award uses the work of another person or persons without due acknowledgement: (a) The relevant Board of Examiners may impose a penalty in relation to the seriousness of the offence; (b) The relevant Board of Examiners may report the candidate to the Senate, where there is prima facie evidence of an intention to deceive and where sanctions beyond those in (1) might be invoked.
