4. Course Description

Course Description

This course is an introduction to macroeconomics—the study of business cycle fluctuations and long-run economic growth. The course will first introduce students to the measurement of major macroeconomic variables and the main issues in macroeconomics. It will then introduce students to models that study the trend of the economy in the long run and the cyclical ups and downs of the economy in the short run. Empirical evidence and the effects of fiscal and monetary policies will be discussed along the way.

Prerequisites

While “Introductory Microeconomics” (ECON 1210) is not a pre-requisite of this course, it is better that you take “Introductory Microeconomics” first because this course will use on some of the basic concepts introduced in “Introductory Microeconomics”.

14. Course Policy

Term Test(s) and Final Examination
There will be no make-up for the term test(s). If you do not attend any test, you will automatically get zero mark for the test. However, if there is a legitimate medical reason that you miss the test, you will need to inform the teacher or the teaching assistant and provide medical certificate within 72 hours of the test. In such case, the weight of the term test will be allocated to the final exam.

The final examination (2 hours) is cumulative.

The term test(s) and the final exam are closed book and closed notes. You will need to bring a calculator to the term test(s) and the final exam.

Late Exercises
No exercises handed in late will be accepted

Academic Conduct
The University Regulations on academic dishonesty will be strictly enforced! Please check the University Statement on plagiarism on the web: http://www.hku.hk/plagiarism/
Academic dishonesty is behavior in which a deliberately fraudulent misrepresentation is employed in an attempt to gain undeserved intellectual credit, either for oneself or for another. It includes, but is not necessarily limited to, the following types of cases:

a. Plagiarism - The representation of someone else’s ideas as if they are one’s own. Where the arguments, data, designs, etc., of someone else are being used in a paper, report, oral presentation, or similar academic project, this fact must be made explicitly clear by citing the appropriate references. The references must fully indicate the extent to which any parts of the project are not one’s own work. Paraphrasing of someone else’s ideas is still using someone else’s ideas, and must be acknowledged.

b. Unauthorized Collaboration on Out-of-Class Projects - The representation of work as solely one’s own when in fact it is the result of a joint effort. Where a candidate for a degree or other award uses the work of another person or persons without due acknowledgement:

(1) The relevant Board of Examiners may impose a penalty in relation to the seriousness of the offence;
(2) The relevant Board of Examiners may report the candidate to the Senate, where there is prima facie evidence of an intention to deceive and where sanctions beyond those in (1) might be invoked.

15. Additional Course Information

Advice for students who have some training in Macroeconomics (e.g., HKALE/DSE in Economics)

A fair amount of the course materials will overlap with the Economics Subject in HKALE/DSE (especially the materials covered in the first 3-4 week). However, this course puts more emphasis on helping students develop their analytical skills (especially the second half of the course). Thus, an excellent grade in Economics in HKALE/DSE does not guarantee a good grade in this course. In the past, there were students who did well in the HKALE/DSE in Economics but got a fairly poor grade in this course (or even failed) primarily because they underestimated the rigor of this course and rarely attended the lectures.
