4. Course Description

Course Description: The world becomes more digitized than ever. With the total number of active social media users reaching several billion worldwide, understanding how to effectively communicate with consumers on social platforms has become an integral part of every business’s success. This course will help students understand social media marketing from three perspectives—principles, applications and strategies. Social media and network theory, popular social media strategies, social media management tools and relevant ethical framework such as consumer privacy will be introduced. The course will also familiarize students with best practices and tactics used by popular platforms such as Facebook, Instagram, Pinterest, Twitter, TikTok and others. The course includes hands-on development of social media tactics and channels. This may require students to set up group social media accounts and manage them during second half of the semester. Upon completing this course, students will be equipped with the knowledge and master skills which are essential to build, analyze, and manage real-world social media marketing campaigns.
