4. Course Description

This is a 6-credit experiential learning course that will give students an opportunity to work directly for social ventures under the guidance of a faculty instructor and professional mentors. You should have opportunities to manage tasks, solve real-life problems, and gain hands-on business experience, which will strengthen your soft skills, help you implement academic business concepts in a practical way, and greatly improve your ability to compete in the job market.

The course will also offer you the opportunity to learn about starting an impactful business by sharing theories and methods through short lectures, readings, and videos, as well as real-life examples by our guest speakers. This component of the course will help you grasp the essence of what building a company, especially in a social impact space, entails.

What is social entrepreneurship?
Social entrepreneurship is one of the most exciting business trends over the past several decades. By combining the efficiency of business education with the nobility of helping society, many hope that social ventures will be able to help to cure ills suffered by the most vulnerable. The importance of social entrepreneurship is gaining recognition worldwide, and is increasingly popular in Hong Kong.

How will this course work?
In this course students will have an opportunity to manage within real social ventures. Each student will have opportunities to apply academic principles learned previously, but will also be confronted with real-life issues and problems for which they may be unprepared. Students will engage in problem solving and business building within a supervised learning environment, enabling real life skills development and personal growth.

During the first two weeks of the placement, students must create a semester-long “Action Plan” that they will present to their assigned company, course instructor, and teaching assistant. The “Action Plan” functions as a mutual agreement clearly defining the scope of each student’s responsibilities and goals to be achieved. This Action Plan will be the basis for tasks performed, and should be reviewed and updated as the semester goes on. The Action Plan should be considered a “living document,” meaning that it can and should be updated as the semester progresses, particularly as the scope of student responsibilities change.

Note: Although this is not an assessed activity, students are required to submit an Action Plan in order to take part in Impact Lab. Students who do not submit an Action Plan within the first two weeks (i.e., prior to the end of the add-drop period) can be removed from the course.

9. Assessment Methods

Moreover, students should actively seek feedback and suggestions for improvement. Based on such feedback and follow-up conversations between the supervisor and the course instructor, the course instructor will assess the work performed by the student during the semester. Specific information relating to this assessment item will be provided by the course instructor. Note: if you are not receiving periodic feedback from your supervisor, please notify the course instructor immediately.

14. Course Policy

Academic Honesty and Integrity

You are expected to do your own work whenever you are supposed to. Incident(s) of academic dishonesty will NOT be tolerated. Cheating or plagiarism of any kind will result in an automatic F grade for the course plus strict enforcement of all Faculty and/or University regulations regarding such behavior.

The University Regulations on academic dishonesty will be strictly enforced! Please check the University Statement on plagiarism on the web: http://www.hku.hk/plagiarism/.

Academic dishonesty is a behavior in which a deliberately fraudulent misrepresentation is employed in an attempt to gain undeserved intellectual credit, either for oneself or for another. It includes, but is not necessarily limited to, the following types of cases:

a. Plagiarism — The representation of someone else's ideas as if they are your own. Where the arguments, data, designs, etc., of someone else are being used in a paper, report, oral presentation, or similar academic project, this fact must be made explicitly clear by citing the appropriate references. The references must fully indicate the extent to which any parts of the project are not one's own work. Paraphrasing of someone else's ideas is still using someone else's ideas, and must be acknowledged.

b. Unauthorized Collaboration on Out-of-Class Projects — The representation of work as solely one's own when in fact it is the result of a joint effort.

c. Dishonesty about working hours, or other dishonesty with your team or supervisor — Students are required to report their work and working hours each week to the course instructor and your direct supervisor. Lying about work completed or time spent on an assignment will be treated as though you cheated on an examination, and can result in a failing grade for the course.

COURSE SOCIAL CONTRACT

The Impact Lab Course is a special kind of course, and requires a special kind of student. You have been hand-picked for this course because we believe in you, and because you have made a commitment to work hard. Please take that commitment seriously.

Please note:

● Students must actively seek projects, and fill their time even when not actively supervised or managed. In other words, if you do not have enough to do, it is YOUR fault. So please stay in close contact with your supervisor and let him/her know when you do not have enough to do.

● Lying about working hours is considered cheating. Any student who is dishonest about their work in any way, including overstating working hours, will fail the course and be submitted for disciplinary action as a violation of HKU's academic integrity policy. Please be honest about your work and your time. Each of these companies has plenty of work to go around. Be proactive and make the most of this experience.

● The placement will end automatically at the end of the semester. You hereby recognize that you are considered a “student intern” as defined under the Minimum Wage Ordinance, and therefore the Statutory Minimum Wage does not apply to you or the work you engage in during this course. Accordingly, you will not be paid for your work unless otherwise agreed with your respective company in advance. And this course is not a guarantee or offer for future employment.
14. Course Policy

- Students who do not have a right to work in Hong Kong, in particular exchange students without a “No Objection Letter” from HK Immigration, shall not be provided formal internships. Your participation in this course will be structured as a school project, and your work will be adjusted accordingly, as necessary.

- Any intellectual property and work created as a direct result of your involvement in the course, including e.g., any research, reports, business plans, videos, designs, etc., are “work product” and will remain the property of the company or project leader for whom you created the items.

By signing below you indicate that you understand the items above and are willing to abide by all course requirements. In particular, you hereby agree to work a minimum of 10 hours, on average, per week.

NOTE: Students must agree to these terms when registering for the course.
