The sustainability-themed competition attracted over 480 students from across the Greater Bay Area, with five teams advancing to the final round. Finalists presented their case studies to a distinguished panel of judges coming from regulatory bodies and the sustainability sector.

Sponsored by BNP Paribas, Team Billionaires delivered a compelling proposal featuring three actionable strategies to position Hong Kong as a global leader in sustainable finance. The team’s solution built upon existing policies while introducing scalable enhancements, striking a balance between creativity and applicability. By addressing current challenges and proposing measurable steps, the team demonstrated a deep understanding of both financial innovation and ESG integration.

The team extends their heartfelt gratitude to their project sponsor for their invaluable guidance throughout the competition.

Our congratulations to the HKU Team “Billionaires”.
