

BFin(AMPB) Orientation Day for 2025-2026 Intake Freshmen

On August 31st, 2025, the BFin(AMPB) programme welcomed freshmen with an informative, interactive Orientation Day, giving them insight and brief idea for their future career while marking the beginning of the fruitful academic year. This year, with the help of 9 dedicated helpers, 44 energetic freshmen experienced series of activities designed to build connections with each other and get familiar with university life.

With the start of ice-breaking games, they get to know each other and share about themselves. These activities aim to help the freshmen feel included, encouraging them to step out of their comfort zones and build connections that will last for the four years of university life. The spirit of being in a group continued with mass games where team communication and collaboration were key factors to strengthening the group bondings.

One of the most important session – Programme Director's sharing, conducted by Prof. Anna Wong and Adjunct Prof. Ivan Wong. Prof. Wong shared with us the AMPB curriculum with an emphasis of integrating practical elements inspired us. Both professors offered valuable advice on how to deal with challenges and obstacles faced in university, emphasizing the importance of participation, passionate and showing respect.

After the inspiring sharing, we wrapped up the day by having more mass games to strengthen interpersonal bonds. Team members enhance communication, build mutual trust and develop a shared sense of accomplishment. In conclusion, the BFin(AMPB) Orientation Day is a great success, building connections between seniors and freshmen and also bondings between freshmen.

Feedback from BFin(AMPB) freshmen:

The orientation day is so fun. I met people from same major that I will definitely stay connected with. With the help of mass games, we get to know each other really quick and get connected with each other on social media right afterwards. With the sharing from Professors, I felt less confused about my academic journey and excited to future career development in the field of asset management or private banking.
